Woodin, F. D.'s Treasury Chief Noted for Varied Activities

Personal Friend of President-elect, Wet Republican Who Campaigns for Smith in 1928, Director in Many Corporations, Composer of Good Music and Authority on Numismatics.

WILLIAM
H. WOODIN

WITH AL SMITH and F.D.R.

Versatility is the outstanding characteristic of William Hartman Woodin, New York industrialist, who was recently appointed as Secretary of the Treasury by President-elect Franklin D. Roosevelt in the cabinet that will come into being after the inauguration on March 4. Not only has Woodin climbed to the peak in business, but he is world-famous as an authority on old coins, of which he has one of the largest private collections extant. He is also a collector of rare books, an enthusiastic angler and a musical composer. Among his musical compositions are five symphonies, a children's book of songs and a score of popular pieces. Critics have lauded Woodin's musical creations, and there is no doubt that he could start life all over again from scratch and win fame in the field where Mozart, Beethoven and other masters won it before him. Despite his hobbies, Woodin has proved all through his career that he is well equipped for the difficult task facing him. The man destined to be custodian of Uncle Sam's pocketbook was born at Berwick, Pa., in 1866. He was graduated from Columbia University in 1890 and began work in his father's foundry as a cleaner of castings at 90 cents a day. Devotion to his job resulted in rapid promotion up the ladder, step by step, until he became foundry superintendent. He decided to travel when he got that far, so he resigned and toured Europe and the Near East, studying music in the European capitals. A life-long Republican, he created a sensation by coming out flat for Alfred E. Smith in 1928. During the recent campaign he acted as economic adviser to Mr. Roosevelt. Mr. Woodin is married and has four children, William, an electrical engineer; Mary, Anne and Elizabeth. Incidentally, one of Woodin's musical compositions, the "Franklin Delano Roosevelt March," will be played when his close friend is inaugurated President of the United States on March 4.

LIQUOR, MASH AND STILL CAPTURED; TWO MEN ALSO ARRESTED

Fifteen gallons of liquor, 350 gallons of mash, and a completely equipped 50-gallon copper still were confiscated in a raid Monday night by the sheriff's department five miles northwest of Corsicana on the Pinkerton road. Dick Odom and his son, Dexter Odom, were arrested and lodged in the Navarro county jail and were charged by complaints with the alleged violation of the prohibition laws before Judge Sam B. Jordan. Bonds in the sum of $750 each were set by Judge Jordan at the conclusion of examining trials Tuesday morning to await the action of the grand jury. The bonds will probably be arranged during the day. The cases will be presented before the Navarro county grand jury, offices said. The examining trials were conducted by C. L. Knox, assistant criminal district attorney. The defendants were not represented by counsel and declined to testify at the examining trials. The raiding officers were Sheriff Rufus Pevehouse and Deputies Walter Hayes, Jack Floyd and J. M. Westbrook.

THOMPSON ASSERTS SEVERANCE TAX ON OIL IS JUSTIFIABLE

RAILROAD COMMISSIONER TESTIFIES BEFORE REVENUE AND TAXATION GROUP

AUSTIN, Feb. 28.—(P)—Ernest O. Thompson, member of the railroad commission, told the house committee on revenue and taxation last night that a high severance tax on oil should provide a just source of revenue to defray governmental expenses. Thompson commended a bill by Representative Gordon Burns of Huntsville proposing a graduated tax of from one cent a barrel on production under five barrels, to one dollar a barrel above 1000 barrels. Burns said under the present basis of production of oil his plan would raise in excess of $55,000,000. Dan Harrison of Houston opposed the Burns bill on the ground it would "ruin" the independent operators. Barney Flynn and Tom Perry of Wichita Falls opposed the bill, stating it would place the independent operators on an unfair basis of competition and that it would increase "oil racketeering" by making it more profitable to avoid taxation. George Morgan of San Angelo told the committee there was too much competition between Texas and other oil producing areas to force Texas producers to pay any additional taxes.

INTEREST IS STILL GOOD IN SALVATION ARMY'S MEETINGS

Interest remains good, and fair audiences attended the indoor camp meeting at the Salvation army despite the weather. As the last week approaches, Adjutant M. Saunders announces that Captain and Mrs. R. E. Cleve, from Waco will conduct the meetings on Tuesday and Wednesday. Thursday and Friday meetings will be in the hands of Adjutant and Mrs. W. M. Stevenson, who had charge of the Salvation Army work at Austin. These folks were in charge here for about two years, some little time ago, and the news that they will pay a two-day visit to the city will be received with interest by the many friends they made while here. The indoor meetings commence at 7:30 and the public is cordially invited.

No. 28
Automobile Deductions.
With the number of automobile owners registering in the millions the question of deductions for the cost of operation and maintenance of a motor car frequently is addressed to the Bureau of Internal Revenue. The purchase price of an automobile, whether it is to be used for business or pleasure, can not be deducted for gross income. If used for business it is a capital expenditure; if used for pleasure, it is a personal expenditure—both deductions being expressly prohibited by the income tax law.
However, there are several allowances deductions in connection with the cost of maintenance and operation of an automobile, used either for business or pleasure. If the car is used exclusively for business purposes, there may be deducted the entire cost of gasoline, oil, repairs, rent for garage, and other necessary expenses connected with operation and upkeep. Depreciation, based on the cost of the car and its estimated useful life, also is deductible.
Other deductible items are as follows: Sums paid during the taxable year for registration fees, drivers' licenses, personal property tax, and municipal taxes; interest on money borrowed for the purchase of a motor car, either for business or for pleasure; loss sustained by reason of damage while car is being used for business, provided such loss is not covered by insurance of otherwise damages paid for injury to a pedestrian, provided that the car was being used for business at the time, and again provided payment was not covered by insurance or otherwise; amount paid for insurance on motor vehicle used for business purposes.

FORMER RUM RUNNER GONE STRAIGHT WAS WRECKED ON ROCKS

CAPTAIN OF WHALER PSCA-
WHA LOST WHEN BIG WAVE
CARRIED HIM TO SEA

ASTORIA, Ore., Feb. 28.—(P)—While her crew of 10 mourned the loss of their captain, surf-battered wreckage was all that remained today of the former rum runner, Pescawha.

On her way to sea for the first time in seven years, the 40-foot craft, at last an "honest" whaling boat, was swept by strong wind and current last night onto the sharp rocks of the north jetty at the mouth of the Columbia river.

Then she was swung around the jetty's head and onto the sands of Peacock Spit. There, seething surf pounded a spectacular finish to the boat's spectacular career.

Captain Victor H. Riley of Portland, owner and master of the former liquor carrier, which was manned by a "land lubber" crew, attempted to launch the boat's small dory, and was carried to sea by a large wave.

Others aboard, including the mate, Thomas F. Hyskell of Portland, leaped over the side and swam or were washed to safety on the beach.

Three Coast Guardsmen from the Cape Disappointment and Point Adams stations, who had mutely attempted to save the crew while the Pescawha was still on the jetty, administered first aid.

On Feb. 8, 1935, the Pescawha figured in a thrilling rescue of the captain and eight crew members of the lumber carrier Caoba in the face of a 50-mile gale near the mouth of the Columbia shortly after the revenue cutter Algonquin came alongside. The late Capt. Robert Pamphlet and his men aboard the Pescawha were arrested and the vessel with its $200,000 cargo of liquor seized.

Unofficial Honors
From Olin Dutra

MIAMI, Fla., Feb. 28.—(P)—Gene Sarazen, American and British Open titleholder, has added the "unofficial world's golf championship" to his list of laurels by a decisive victory over Olin Dutra, Metropolitan and P. G. A. champion.

Sarazen shot three consecutive rounds of sub-par golf to gather a big lead over Dutra and concluded the match on the 62nd hole yesterday to win 11 up and 15 to play. Precision and smoothness contributed to Sarazen's victory.

Trav Jackson Keeps
"Hark Luck" Honors

LOS ANGELES, Feb. 28.—(P)—The training season has barely begun but Travis Jackson, veteran shortstop, already has retained his title as the "Hark Luck Champion" of the New York Giants.

Out practically all of last season with injuries to his knees, Jackson came to camp the other day with his underpinnings in excellent shape. Yesterday he failed to report for practice because of a cold in the head, thus becoming the first casualty of the Giant campaign.

of 1932 is staying on top and kicking them home often enough to make it appear that he will retain the place he made for himself when he created a new record last year. The boys who pressed him for 1932 honors are right with him again—Hank Mills and Silvio Coucci, both phenomenal riders.

Two youngsters who are emulating Gilbert Mills and Coucci are Monte Parks, riding at New Orleans, and Lee Humphries at Agua Caliente. Parks is a brother of Ivan Parks, star rider six or seven years ago. Humphries is only 16 years old and hails from Idaho, the state that produced the great Earle Sande. He skyrocketed to turndown attention by riding 22 winners in the first four weeks at Agua Caliente. The two big winter classics are yet to come—the Florida Derby at Hialeah on March 11 and the $50,000 Cuban Derby at Oriental Park, Havana, on the following day.

An innovation in receiving nominations for the Florida Derby has done much to bring a fine bunch of starters to Hialeah for the closing day's classic. Supplementary nominations will be receivable up to tomorrow. Because of this, horsemen have the opportunity of judging their thoroughbreds through the season, instead of having to rely on early season showings.

The decision to take nominations until ten days before the race has been thoroughly approved by sportsmen, who feel that the decision brings a higher class field to the race.

Thirteen Corsicana property owners at noon Monday had given permission to use their vacant lots in the "Self-Help Garden" project being sponsored here by the Corsicana chapter of the American Red Cross. It was announced by W. W. McClendon, city engineer, who has charge of the preliminary survey.

The plan is to secure the use of available garden plots in the limits and within a radius of one mile of the city limits. Wide seeds and implements to unemployed to plant, tend and use truck gardens during the spring and summer months. The project is to lessen the demands on Corsicana relief agencies and the work of the emergency unemployment relief agency of following is the list:

DIET NOTES

DRINKING
A note to you who wish to clear your complexion. You should read these about foods.

you a healthy start for a diet based on fruits and vegetables, and the more easily digested meats and starch forms.

Are you lacking in energy? Try a few days of this diet to clear up the system and then eat normally avoiding the excess of sugar and starch. Eat bread or potatoes, but not both at once, avoid cakes and candies and meats like veal (which often poisons people) or ham or pork, which tax the digestion. Lamb and beef are always safe choices.

G. F. C.—Buttermilk is not fattening, and it is desirable for other reasons also, as it is very easily digested.

Your drab shade of hair will be improved by using a henna shampoo, as this will give a coppery tint and not make its shade any darker than it is now. If you prefer a bleach, add a tablespoonful of peroxide to the last rinse after a shampoo. Of course, this will not bleach it to any great extent, but it will add a little glint to its present shade, which should be more becoming than if you did the severe bleaching that is rarely becoming. The coppery tint really enriches all the coloring, while a bleach takes from the natural color.

LEGISLATURE
ADJOURNS
WORK ENDED

ORDINANCE AND RELIEF
BILLS SENT TO GOV.
FOR SIGNING

Feb. 28.

Miriam A. Ferguson
Special session of the legislature, called by her to pass unemployment relief legislation, was in adjournment
today.

It was long after the 12
o'clock deadline before the house could adjourn. The clock was turned back to avoid the constitutional provision which terminated it at midnight.

Bills to grant additional state bonds for relief of destitution and to declare a moratorium against forced sales of real estate were passed by the governor. Both bills were passed with a majority sufficient to make them effective on signature of the governor.

The session ended at 2:05 a. m.
when the officers had gathered up the scattered ends incident to closing the session and declared the adjournment.

For a time it appeared the legislature would be forced to adjourn with its job only half done due to failure of the senate to approve the moratorium bill by midnight.

Vote Is Reconsidered.
The original vote on final passage was 15 to 11 but the action was reconsidered and it was passed 22 to 6. One vote in excess of the margin necessary to make it effective without delay. Reconsid-eration followed a plea that to make its effective date would result in a rush of creditors to foreclose against debt-ridden property owners. Had it received less than 21 votes, it would not have gone into effect for 90 days.

The bond bill would authorize issuance of $5,000,000 in new bonds and a guarantee of $2,750,000 in bonds remaining from an issue authorized last fall and on which subscriptions have been received.

The legislature raised the interest rate on the bonds from four percent to four and one-half percent in the hope of increasing their marketability. A provision in the law passed last fall authorizing investment of funds of the state in securities was confirmed.

The Governor's Request.
The legislature refused the request of Governor Ferguson to change personnel of the Texas relief commission, relief disbursement agency, to allow her a greater voice in relief activities.
Funds derived from sale of the bonds would be disbursed through the existing agency.

During consideration of the moratorium bill in the senate,
former Governor James F. Ferguson, husband and adviser of the governor, occupied a chair on the floor with Lieutenant Governor Witt Ferguson, who addressed the senate briefly, expressing keen interest in the provision.

Ferguson's talk was the first made in the senate since the senate set as a precedent and resolved that "There shall be no further speeches by members of the legislature
on the floor of the senate."

There was a momentary
silence in the senate when Ferguson rose
to speak.

about five minutes, and then
sat down.

QUEER CULTS OF RELIGION
ARE OUR DAYS DEVELOPM

Strange Tendency of Times, to Get
From the Simplicity of Jesus, Who
His Own Character and Mission
And Who Represents All That Men
to Know About God.

By WILLIAM T. ELLIS

Since the war, even amidst our carnival of materialism, we have had a wild spree of religious speculation. Physical scientists led, with their attempt to give us a deity by definition. They named God as the Primal Force, the all-pervading Essence, the Cosmic Principle, the Great Mathematical Plan and the Impersonal First Cause. At the opposite extreme,
all sorts of misguided persons,
many of them charlatans, set about offering new religions and new cults, usually with ecstatic and exotic trappings, to attract the ignorant. Every great city has dozens of these groups, supported mostly by silly women.

Among Christians there has been an amazing tendency to run into narrow specialties and speculations. Thus we have had fighting Fundamentalists, fanatical and dogmatic like followers of the Mad Mullah. Opposed to them have been the worldly and mind-worshiping Modernists, with a vague and sterile creed of denial, showing themselves to be as intolerant, in the name of "liberalism" as any narrow sectarians. Few in number, but making up in vociferousness what they lack in strength,
have been the prophetic crowd,
who can make the Old Testament mean whatever they want; the Pyramidists, who seem to see more significance in the Great Pyramid of Egypt than in the plain teachings of the New Testament; the Millennialists, who disregard Christ's plain teaching that of the time of His return no man knows anything; the numerologists, a crazy crew, who find some significance in certain arbitrary numbers in the Bible than they do in its plain text; the gymnastic "tongurs," who profess to speak in unknown tongues; the "second blessing" folk, who are not always a blessing to their families and neighbors; the devotees of eccelesiastical millinery; and so on through a long and incredible category. There must be something amazingly wrong in Christianity to survive this assortment of Christian vagaries.

The Reformers' Baseless Appeal.
All of this spectacle is enough to make the angels weep, when they view it against the background of humanity's present plight. But still another grave complication enters in the vague appeal to Jesus by almost every reformer, "local," "intellectual" or other claimant for the public's ear. It is a rare book on sociology that does not quote Jesus as authority for its favorite positions, whatever they may be.
Most of these claims to Christ as a teacher, leader and authority are entirely unsupported by the New Testament record. Jesus would never recognize Himself in the roles in which it is the contemporary fashion to cast Him.

What is the answer to the conditions cited? Simply this: The New Testament record of the life, acts and words of Jesus Christ is the only basis we have for a knowledge of Him and His mind.
The narrative is wonderfully clear and simple and explicit. Most of the motives and characteristics which contemporary "psychological" biographies attribute to Him
are simple humbly; these words
magicians take out of the hat
only the rabbits they first put in.
Any honest person, with ordinary intelligence, by reading the four Gospels, can learn enough about Jesus Christ to shape his character, guide his conduct and save his soul. This present Sunday school lesson makes clear what Jesus thought of Himself.

Let's Look at the Record.
There is a sense, of course,
wherein Jesus, the God-Man, has the human comprehension. But His own method of answering questions was not to offer a pre-found discourse on theology, but simply to appeal to the clear facts of record.

John the Baptist had been cast into prison by a corrupt king, because of his boldness as a preacher of righteousness. His high hour had been when he had baptized Jesus in the Jordan. But in his dungeon depression and loneliness he had been assailed by doubts; as in the experience of every sensitive soul, a day in the sunshine would have cured him.
Many a man is sitting home
amidst his books, morbid and fearful, when he ought to be out fishing or skating or playing golf.
Spiritual depression is often nothing more or less than lack of fresh air, exercise and good food.
It was John the prisoner who sent to Christ to ask if He really were the Messiah.

How did Jesus reply? He bade
the messengers return and tell John the things they had seen and heard—the incontrovertible and uncomplicated facts: "The blind receive their sight, and the lame walk, the lepers are cleansed and the deaf hear, and the dead are raised up, and the poor have good things preached unto them." Thus did Jesus exemplify His own teaching, "Their fruits shall ye know them."

In passing it may be remarked that this is still the testimony of real Christianity. A holy life, faithful deeds of helpfulness and neighborliness, continues to be the best of all Christian evidences.
A Word About Critics.
The masses of fine-spun speculation, waste hours on this lesson in pointing out the criticisms buried at Jer. Of course, He was criticized. Everybody who is anybody is criticized. He may take his own measure by the critics. How runs Scott's comment?

"They say?"
"What do they say?"
"Let them say!"

Write it down as one of sure things that the person is going to govern his life by opinion of his neighbors. It seems unlikely that a person spect for the opinion of man-
—as a certain famous old ment phrases it—is one thing to live in terror of everybody is quite another thing. The absurdity of consistency of public opinion, recalling how John's accused him to be accused mon-possession; whereas Scott of him came eating drinking they said "Beh
gluttonous man and a wine
a friend of publicans and sinners. There are multitudes of righteous separatists today
do not relish the fact that was a genial soul, a good trade to all sorts of people.

As Curtis Clarke once wrote in lines that are pertinent
"Who would a true saint be Let him live joyously
And not too soberly.
As if of saint's degree:
The world's best saint is he Who makes good company."

Good News for Plain Folks.
What Charles Lamb called perfect sympathy existed between Jesus and the highbrows and the lowbrows of His day. He even in our lesson passage, "I These, O Father, Lord of heaven and earth, that Thou didst
these things from the wise-understanding, and reveal unto babes." Simple faith understands Christ more clearly than intellectual pride. A plain, studying Christian may know more about God than the scientist, or the man with a telescope and a telescope.

Let us hope that the deepening religious tides of our time
as are indicated in the beginning of this article. What traneous cults and theories, of this article. What heated humanity desperately needs now is a clear concept of the Christ who represented as a loving Father; and own sufficient word was unto men, all ye that labor are laden, and I will give you rest." To find and follow Jesus is to discover life's real-ing and to receive both peace
and power.

LABOR SPOKESMEN SEEKING SHOWDOWN FOR WORKING MAN

COMMUNIST REFUSES JOIN JOHNSON STAFF OF NRA CRITICS

WASHINGTON, March 1. (P)—President Roosevelt will disclose his plans for NRA in a personal appearance Monday before the group meetings called by Administrator Johnson to hear complaints.

This was made known today as criticism was received from a large number of persons who came here at the invitation of Johnson to air their views.

The president's address at 11 a.m. (Eastern standard time) will be broadcast to the nation. Significance was attached by observers to the sudden decision to address the conference.

Some believed the president would give his ideas for the future of the national recovery act as well as take up some of the complaints presented at the invitation of Johnson.

A new attack on the steel industry was made by E. P. Coughlin, national president of the Steel and Metal Workers Industrial Union, who cited what he called oppressive demands by officials in the steel mill town of Western Pennsylvania.

The NRA, he said, "has given us no protection" but had allowed the big companies to impose company unions on the workers without a voice in the preparation of the rule.

Francis J. Gorman, vice president of the United Textile Workers of America, said he was wholeheartedly for the national recovery act, but that codes for the textile industries have been "bitterly disappointing."

Gorman criticized exceptions from the minimum wages, the "unfair" provisions for wages between the North and South and "provisions of hours that were higher than the traffic would bear."

Miss Alice Edwards, executive secretary of the American Home Economics Association, urged the inclusion of "effective consumer representation" on code authorities.

By JAMES COPE.
WASHINGTON, March 1.—(P)—Labor spokesmen in NRA, stung by wholesale complaints, sought today to win a showdown for the coming man at the coming assembly of code authorities.

The battering of the assembled complaints, invited by Hugh S. Johnson to say their worst in an open forum, went right ahead.

Officials showed the strain as they followed witness to complaints that code hour limits were being stretched out of all meaning; that wage levels were being reduced by various devices; that industrialists by intimidation, espionage and other means were crushing unionization; and—worst of all—that complaints without end had been made to NRA with almost negligible response.

It was Edward F. McGrady, right-hand man to Johnson and assistant secretary of labor, who launched a systematic analysis of the complaints to dig out ammunition for next week.

It was McGrady who burst out with a declaration that was "time to rip the curtain off" the

SALVAGE VESSEL TAKES PASSENGERS OFF WRECKED SHIP

POLISH STEAMER STRIKES ROCKS INFLECTING MAJOR DAMAGE TO SHIP

HELSINKI, Finland, March 1.—(P)—All fifty of the passengers aboard the Polish steamer Zeszy, dangerously near sinking in violent seas near Macellon Island, were taken off the stricken vessel today by a salvage ship.

The salvage steamer Juuonkari, which effected the rescue, had departed hours earlier by wireless that she had reached the neighborhood of the Zeszy, and was unable to pull alongside.

The Zeszy, which was flashed from the sea and rockets were fired, struck the rocks last night. Later, wireless messages said the Zeszy was in a critical position, a hole in her hull, the engine room flooded and the ship was sinking.

Messages told of attempts to launch lifeboats in the darkness which were frustrated by the extinguishing of all lights after the stopping of the engines.

Lifeboats and other steamers were lowered through the heavy fog and the salvage steamer was able to face to the scene of the wreck.

Forty-two Polish athletes on their way to Helsinki were taken off the Zeszy.

FLIGHT SURGEON ADMITS CHANGING FINDINGS OF EXAMINING BOARD

SAN ANTONIO, March 1.—Sharp verbal clashes between opposing counsel marked the morning session of Major Ocker's court martial on charges of making derogatory remarks about his commanding officer, Lieut. Col. H. B. Clegg.

The defense continued to predicate in efforts to impeach the testimony of Major Clegg, Kelly Field senior flight surgeon, on the grounds he was biased, prejudiced and acted by animus toward Major Ocker.

Major Ocker is charged with making the remarks about Clegg when the major was Major Johnston's office for a special examination September 1941. The trial is being held at Port San Antonio.

Defense sought to bring to light when other officers examined Major Johnston in the case of his assistants, had failed to do so.

In explanation, Major Johnston testified that as senior flight surgeon he was privileged to disregard his assistants' word make an examination himself as he so desired.

LOW COST HOUSING CLEARANCE OF NATIONS

(Mrs. Anna Wilmarth Jones, a wife of Secretary Harold Ickes and wife of Secretary Harold Ickes, is co-sponsor of a series of low cost housing bills before the third special session of the Illinois legislature. In the article Mrs. Jones discusses the need of this work, which is part of the federal public works program authorized by Secretary Ickes.)

By MRS. ANNA WILMARTH JONES
(Copyright 1934, by The Associated Press)

SPRINGFIELD, Ill., March 1.—Only recently has the United States recognized and accepted responsibility in the direct low cost housing and slum clearance.

We have always lamented the existence of slum areas in our cities, but we somehow forgot the unsightly conditions were to the people who lived in them as possibly, in part, they were.

Many of us remember the first time we heard the dictum that they might be cleared, that other one, "He who must work." Slum dwelling is insufficient water supply, the first one out of date, unemployment situation, the second after it. Cleanliness becomes a luxury and is maintained by no means confined to the slums.

Firstwhile residential areas were encroached upon by industrial plants. Smoke pollution and industrial wastes in the streams, and the original slum moved away. Under the old folk moved into the new buildings, and so slums grew and became the breeding places of crime and disease. People said "too bad" passed by on the other side. But disease and crime were the specters of invisible life as they crept across the slum and other districts, dwelling in the slums.

TEXAS IS SEEKING FEDERAL RELIEF TO COVER VACANCIES

DALLAS, Feb. 24.—(AP) —Chrestman, member of the relief commission, said the commission would seek funds to finance its program during the 30-day period ending March 1. The sale of $7,750,000 bonds authorized by the legislature yesterday.

"The relief bonds," he said, "will be sold now. By raising the interest rate from 4 to 5 percent and providing for their redemption, the legislature made the bonds more attractive to bidders."

"But, it will take 30 days to reprint, sign, advertise and sell the bonds. Existing funds and food supplies will be exhausted in most countries by this weekend. We can't let our destitute people starve for 30 days. Since the commission can't borrow money, its only hope is to get aid from the federal government. If that fails, only the Lord knows what may happen, the distress and trouble that will follow."

"Adam Johnson, state relief director, now is in Washington pressing our appeal for federal aid. This appeal was rejected once, before the legislature passed the $7,750,000 bonds. It may be granted now, however, since the legislature has acted."

TEN POINTS OF CONCENTRATION FOR FULL-HOUSE SPECIAL

PRESS ASSOCIATION ENDORSING NEW DEAL IN NORTH AND EAST

Points of concentration have been decided on for the Texas "Full-House" Special, the New Deal Train, which will be run from Austin to Washington in April, visiting enroute, Kansas City, St. Louis, Chicago, Baltimore, Philadelphia and New York City. It has been announced here by Lawry Martin, general chairman of the executive committee. These points are Austin, Corsicana, Dallas, Denison, Fort Worth, Galveston, Houston, San Antonio, Tyler, Waco and Wichita Falls.

Definite prices from each of these points were worked out at a meeting Wednesday of Mr. Martin, Sam P. Harben of Richardson, representing the transportation committee and railroad officials. Prices for the entire trip will range from $122.25 for the cheapest ticket to $162.68.

The price of the tickets also includes hotel room at Medina Athletic Club at Chicago; Hotel Powhatan at Washington; Hotel Ben Franklin, Philadelphia and the Governor Clinton at New York. It will also include a ticket to the banquet at Washington at which President Roosevelt, Vice President Garner and the Roosevelt cabinet will be the guests of honor.

Disband in New York. After the visit to Washington, the train will go to Baltimore, Philadelphia, and New York, and after one full day of activities in New York City, will disband, the "good-willers" returning to their homes by whatever route they may select. The ticket includes the return, however. The tickets will have a fifteen day return limit.

It is likely that the reservations on the train will be limited to 150, and early reservations are being urged. The trip will be made by newspapermen, business and professional men and executives of the state.

"The Texas Press 'Full House' special," is being conducted to Washington on a two fold mission," Mr. Martin said. "The first is to take the message of returned prosperity to the north and the east and the second is to compliment President Roosevelt and his staff on the remarkable job they are doing toward restoring confidence and prosperity."

"Texas has a full house. It has fields full of oil, its warehouses are full of cotton which is selling at a price higher than in several years; its pantries are full of foodstuffs for the family and its barns are full of feed for livestock."

"We are in good shape, and we want to tell the world about it. The Texas Press feels that now is the time for the world to know about it, and not have to wait for several years more before knowing the advantages of investing in the natural resources of this state."

NAVARRO DEFEATED EM-METT IN CONSOLATIONS FOR THIRD PLACE

NAVARRO DEFEATED EM-METT IN CONSOLATIONS FOR THIRD PLACE

Dawson high school girls played rings around their opponents from start to finish to plaster a 22-12 defeat on Barry Tuesday night on the Y. M. C. A. court, to annex the 1934 Navarro county girls' basketball tournament. After outplaying and outscoring Navarro in the semi-final game earlier in the afternoon because they defeated Emmett 24-16 in the first semi-final game, Barry won second honors in the tournament, and Navarro defeated Emmett 20-24 in the consolation game to win third place.

Twenty-eight teams started the grind Saturday before last, and 14 survived the first round of elimination. Ten games were played last Saturday, which left Dawson, Barry, Navarro and Emmett in the running the semi-final games, final and consolation games, to be played Tuesday.

In the final game, Dawson took a commanding lead in the first quarter, which they did not relinquish during the remainder of the game. The new junior champions were leading 7-1 first quarter, 10-4 second quarter, 15-6 third quarter, and 22-12 at the end of the game. Miss Wells, Dawson forward, made two more points than the entire opposing team made, for high scoring honors. Miss W. Pitts, chucked in four field goals for 8 points. Miss Ainsworth of Barry made six points, Miss Williams four, and Miss Neese two.

Emmett was not conceded an outside chance to beat Navarro, but staged a second and third quarter rally, which put them four points in the lead at the end of the third. Navarro was leading 11-6, end first quarter, and 14-12 at the half. Emmett limited Navarro to four points in the third, while they were making 10 points to take a 22-18 lead at the end of that period. Navarro clamped down and held Emmett to a lone field goal in the fourth, while Misses Knight and Chambliss were converting 12 points. Miss Knight was high scorer with 15 points, and Misses Chambliss and M. Osborne had 12 each.

In the first semi-final game, Barry took the lead in the first quarter, and were never tied or overtaken, although their margin was rather slim at times. Miss Ainsworth was high pointer as a result of four field goals and three charity tosses, for 11 points, and Miss Neese was next with 9 tallies. Miss M. Osborne of Emmett made six points.

Dawson, in the second semi-final game, made two free shots, while Navarro made nothing in the first quarter but came back stronger in the second to have a 13-4 lead at the end of the first half. Navarro's offensive was still stymied in the third, when they totaled 9 points, while Dawson ran their earnings up to 19. Dawson made four in the fourth, and Navarro made seven. Miss Wells of Dawson was high pointer with 13 tallies, and Miss Hutson was high for Navarro with 11 points.

Sport Notes

By PAUL MOORE
Sun Sports Editor

Tulsa CWA workers are scheduled to start the baseball park Thursday which is expected to eliminate the difficulties which for a time threatened to cause the franchise to be surrendered.

Ray Flashkamper, Dallas Steer infielder, and one of the finest short stops in the country for many years, is being considered as manager of the Longview club of the Western Dixie league this season. He resides in San Antonio, where he has played several years ago and has been setting in condition to report to the Steers at Baton Rouge, La. Longview is to be the farm of Dallas this year, and both the Steer management and Flashkamper are agreeable to the proposal.

The Spring racing meets at Epsom Downs get under way at Houston, this, week-end. This meet will continue for three weeks and then the Arlington Downs spring races will be unreeled.

Bo McMillan, former Centre College star, coach at Kansas State, has been elected head football coach at Indiana, and will take charge of spring football training next week. He was not a candidate for the post, but was sought by the Indiana officials. Indiana officials are trying to revive football at that institution, and are giving McMillan a full rein, including the hiring of his assistants. The Kansas State eleven lost only one game last season—that to the Nebraska crew, perennial Bix Six champions. Indiana did not win a major contest last fall.

John A. Pierce, football and track coach, states the thinning-out is showing improvement daily. Some of the boys are practicing football and the spring football sessions will be undertaken soon. Uniforms will be issued, Monday, March 19.

Dispatches from the New York Giant training camp indicate Manager Bill Terry is planning for Paul Richards, Waxahachie youngster, to be the regular receiver this season, and will be the starter in the spring exhibition. Gus Mancuso is recuperating from a severe illness and will not likely be ready for regular duty until a considerable time after the season opens. Richards was the second-string receiver last year under Mancuso.

Dutch Meyer, product of Waco high school and Texas Christian University, Wednesday was named head football coach to succeed Francis Schmidt, resigned, who goes to Ohio State. Raymond Wolfe remains as assistant and line coach. Wolfe is athletic director, and baseball coach in addition to his duties as line coach. Meyer will be football and basketball mentor. Meyer has been freshman coach for the past several years, and is regarded as one of the outstanding officials of the country. Spring football training will not be started at T. C. U. until next month as Meyer is busy with the baseball team this spring.

Texas Christian football teams have been consistent winners for the past several years, and the new mentor there is faced with a tough assignment and the Christian fans are used to the following winning combinations. Wolfe is one of the best line coaches in the country, and Meyer and Wolfe have plenty of material for the next few years. T. C. U. has had plenty of athletes to enroll during the past several seasons.

The turnover in Southwest conference coaches this year in football has been large. Ray Morrison, SMU dean of the Southwest, and Hoesett, Arkansas, are the only 1933 coaches who will have their jobs this fall. Jimmie Kittle replaced Jack Meagher at Rice; Jack Chevigny is at Texas instead of Clyde Littlefield. Homer Norton succeeded Matty Bell at Texas A. and M. and Dutch Meyer followed Francis Schmidt at TCU. Schmidt resigned to accept a better position while the others were victims of dissatisfaction on the part of officials and fans of the various institutions. Schmidt had some trouble with T. C. U. officials during the season, but the difference had apparently been ironed out. Clyde Littlefield at Texas was re-elected but resigned due to the dissatisfaction in some quarters and remained as track mentor. Jack Meagher was not re-elected but landed a good position in the Southwest, and Matty Bell is now line coach and first assistant to Ray Morrison's at Southern Methodist.

Arkansas and Baylor are the only teams in the Southwest conference which have not made important changes in their coaching personnel.

was for a diamond ring, on which he had borrowed $16.50 on February 16.

C. L. Worley, proprietor of the camp, said the man had been there for seven days but had not registered. The man had been coming to the tourist camp for about three years, Worley told authorities.

A brief note, without an address, and two letters were found on a table in the small room. They had been written on stationery of the Worth Hotel and were dated March 7.

The note named a woman, gave her business and residential address and her telephone number, and asked that she be notified.

"They say this route is cowardly but I'm telling you it takes courage," the note stated. "Good-bye friends, and world."

NRA PROGRAM

sharp announcement that enforcement of blue eagle rules will be tightened up.

"I have been too gentle . . . you ain't seen nothing yet," he asserted last night.

To draft his new plan, Johnson asked the code authorities of the heavy goods industries and of the consumer goods groups to select twelve men each.

He aimed for something concrete to announce to the public by the week-end if possible. But he promised weeks of continuous effort to round out a complete scheme.

The blue eagle chieftain closed the industrial gathering last night with a speech which coupled an energetic appeal to "play the game" with a declaration that in many industries "there is no excuse" for ducking his ten per cent hours shortening plan.

Then he paired a disclaimer of dictatorial intentions toward industry with three earnest warnings.

"Under specific orders from the president, we are reorganizing to enforce the penal sections of the act," he said, first.

Strikes Foreseen.
The other warnings were in substance as follows:

That the country faces this spring "the worst epidemic of strikes in our history," that company unions in 99 out of 100 cases involved illegal "interpretations" by employers.

That with the recent supreme court decision upholding the New York state emergency milk law, the administration has dropped all hesitation, and is ready to use the powers of the industrial law to the limit, if opposition forces it.

Johnson let Donald Richburg, general counsel of NRA, present the last point in a preliminary speech, which, in non-legal language, presented sweeping implications of the decision.

Constitution Hall's three thousand or so occupants were hushed, and attentive as the counsel, said, and attentive as the counsel, said, and attentive as the counsel, said.

"And that should sink a long way home. I want to submit it to the particular attention of some eminent counsel who come around and say they will cancel their codes if they don't get just what they want. It may be—that that act doesn't lie in their power."

Holds Out Olive Branch.
Johnson tendered a special olive branch to the heavy goods industries, which had led the fight against hour shortening, by asking their help in shaping for the president a program to stimulate their production.

Further, he asked that this morning's meeting for selection by them of a continuing committee, be conducted by George Houston, president of Baldwin Locomotive, and vice-president of the National Association of Manufacturers. Houston by repeated attacks on hour shortening and by virtue of individual prominence had become identified as number one man in the opposition.

Houston wants amendment of the securities act and removal of barriers to the free investment of capital.

Alleged Gambling Boss In Chicago Is Shot to Death

CHICAGO, March 7.—(P)—"Wet Side Frankie" Pope, gambler, was shot and killed today in a hotel at 768 West Jackson boulevard. Wounded six times in the head and body, he died instantly.

Pope has been reputed a millionaire boss of gambling rackets in Chicago.

He registered alone at the hotel at 5 a. m. Two men had inquired for him at 1 o'clock, but were told he had not registered.

A maid, passing the room occupied said she heard a woman cry out, "Don't do that." A moment later the shots were heard.

Pope may have fought for his life. Two revolvers were found on the floor near his body—both of them fired.

Arrested some 20 times, Pope had been convicted of dealing in narcotics and liquor.

Secretary Hull at opening of hearings on the bill to empower the President to make tariffs deals, testified to another committee that such legislation is imperative if the United States is to get back any large portion of its lost foreign trade.

Early senate passage of the bill applying the agricultural act benefits to dairy and beef cattle and authorizing $200,000,000 for payments to producers for reducing herds, pending a processing tax, was predicted by Senator Connally (D-Tex.)

The bill remained before the senate today, with the house again debating war department appropriations.

Chairman Leo T. Crowley of the Deposit Insurance Corporation reported that $4,682,092 accounts in 13,529 banks now are guaranteed by the temporary insurance fund.

Insured deposits aggregate $15,482,981,016 of a total deposit liability in the insured institutions of $37,923,828,505.

The senate banking committee heard New York Curb exchange opposition to the Fletcher-Rayburn securities exchange control bill.

Senate Passage Predicted.
WASHINGTON, March 8.—(P)—Senate passage of the Jones-Connally bill applying the agricultural act benefits to dairy and beef cattle and authorizing an appropriation of $200,000,000 for payments to producers for reducing herds, pending the levying of a processing tax, was predicted today by Senator Connally (D-Tex.) co-author of the legislation.

The measure will then go to conference with the house for action on a Connally amendment approved yesterday broadening the language on the purposes of the $200,000,000 fund.

There were indications a proposal to add peanuts as a basic commodity under the agricultural adjustment administration, offered by Senator Byrd (D-Va.) and approved by the agriculture committee, would be adopted, but whether it would be approved in conference remains to be seen.

Urges Tariff Powers.
WASHINGTON, March 8.—(P)—Presidential authority to negotiate reciprocal tariffs with other nations was described today by Secretary Hull as necessary if the United States is to regain any large portion of its lost foreign trade.

WELL OVER RE COUNTY IN SEVERAL HOURS

At intervals Wednesday in Corsicana and over the county, the rainfall for our period ending at 7 p.m. Thursday morning being 1.30 inch.

Heavy rain fell Thursday morning flooding the streets in the residential section and the business district.

Reports from all sections of the county indicate that rain was general and about the same as in Corsicana.

Farm work will be delayed a few days but the rain will keep grains growing and furnish moisture for further cultivation of the soil.

and stars. Heaven favors only those who are virtuous.

"I proclaim this the first year of Kangte—the era of construction.

"In cooperation with our great neighbor, Japan, our course will remain as unaltered as the sun in heaven.

"Heed our rescript! Hear ye all people!"

Important Figure.

One of the most modest yet most important figures present was the scholarly premier, Cheng Hsiang-Hsu, once the tutor of young Pu-Yi, and who was largely responsible for making his student emperor.

While the highest Japanese officials rode up to the palace door in de-luxe American limousines, the premier, dressed in a drab Manchu gown, walked shrinkingly on foot and, like a Mahatma Gandhi remained modest in the background throughout the ceremony, a picture of dignity and humility.

The American spectators agreed that, except for Premier Cheng Hsiang-Hsu, there were only three picturesque characters in the spectacle—the frail and impassive Kang Teh in his quaint Manchu ceremonial, the pink sacrificial bull at the altar of heaven, and most important from the human standpoint a little woman who is rarely seen and about whom nothing can be ascertained—the wistful Empress Elizabeth—the Empress Yueh Hua.

Dramatic Appearance.

She remained in seclusion in the palace during the altar of heaven ceremony but made a dramatic and unexpected appearance before the group which gathered in the palace.

She appeared, pale and fragile, to receive a group of Manchus and Mongolians bearing gifts. Her emergence from her convent-like seclusion caused a mild sensation.

In some respects the secular ceremonies were more picturesque than the religious.

The nobles streamed into the palace in gorgeous garbs, displaying court jewelry and regalia which had not been seen since the founding dynasty of which Pu-Yi was the emperor was overthrown by the republic.

At the end of the ceremonies the foreign minister announced for the benefit of foreign countries:

"By paying reverence to heavenly commands we eased the hearts of the people. Let all rejoice in universal peace.

"Strife has given way to tranquility. Let us sing hymns of concord with all mankind.

As one of his first official acts, the emperor will authorize the government to make disbursements and official honors to the sons and daughters and widows of Manchukuan soldiers who fell in the creation of the nation.

By JAMES A. MILLS.
(Copyrighted, 1934, By The Associated Press.)

HSINKING, (Changchun), Manchukuo, March 1.—(AP)—A new Dynasty was born today under the protecting guns of more than 50,000 soldiers when Henry Pu-Yi became Kang Teh, emperor of "the great Manchu empire."

A bullet-proof limousine, made in America, carried him to and from the imperial palace. Barbed wire stockades kept back the throngs. Everywhere were the soldiers—Manchukuan and Japanese.

They formed human walls along the five-mile route from the palace to the "Altar of Heaven." For every three Manchukuan soldiers there was one Japanese trooper in the lines.

It was bitter cold—below zero—At the "Altar of Heaven" the small handful of foreigners—mostly newspapermen, including many Americans—stood in the required evening dress and without hats, literally freezing as they were forced to stand for nearly two hours on the bare earth at the altar.

Spectators Suffer in Cold.

The ceremonies, both secular and religious, lasted less than half an hour, though for the spectators there were added the rigors of long waiting in the severe cold.

The Japanese army enforced sharp restrictions and regulations to protect the new ruler. Except for a few groups of invited Manchus, Chinese and Japanese (who were carefully herded behind the barbed wire stockades 300 feet from the imperial procession) there were no spectators.

Henceforth, the Japanese protected Manchurian empire will be known as "Ta Manchu Ti Kuo"—The "Great Manchu Empire."

The 15-year-old emperor, formerly known "Mr. Pu-Yi" as chief of the Japanese advised he was given the name "Kang Teh" meaning tranquility and peace. Simultaneously with the elevation of the new ruler, his invalid wife, Empress Hsueh, was vested with the privileges of queenhood, although her health precluded her participation in the ceremonies.

Under Strict Rule.

Looking far from resembling a city in celebration—bore more the appearance of a capital in a state of siege. The public, because of the overwhelming fear in military circles that attempts would be made to assassinate the emperor, was barred not only from the religious ceremonies but from the line of march.

So it was that the streets were all but deserted when, clad in gorgeous ceremonial robes of silk in ancient pattern, the emperor entered his bullet-proof car for the journey to the "Altar of Heaven."

WAR DEPARTMENT APPROPRIATION BILL REPORTED TO HOUSE

HARD-BOILED LANGUAGE MARKS REPORT ON SEPARATE MENTAL SUPPLY MEASURE

WASHINGTON, March 5.—In language almost as hard-boiled as that used by a grizzled sergeant, a $275,541,000 war department appropriation bill today was reported to the house.

It would provide for maintenance of an army of 12,000 officers and 118,760 enlisted men during the fiscal year 1934.

As the outgrowth of a controversy over army airplane buying, it provided $15,000 to fill the vacant post of assistant secretary of air.

The report, accompanying the bill, drafted by an appropriation subcommittee headed by Representative Collins (D-Miss), directly questioned whether the $23,000,000 allotted for military purposes by the PWA and the $22,000,000 from the CWA were expended on projects "most needful from a national defense standpoint."

The sternly worded report also rapped at the army's procurement of airplanes.

Collins wrote that the committee "has not been unmindful of the recently alleged irregularities respecting airplane procurements actually made and projected, as well as other classes of procurement."

Referring to statements by Brigadier General Benjamin D. Foulois, chief of the air corps, during hearings on the bill, that Harry Woodring, assistant secretary of war, ordered changes in specifications for airplanes to be purchased, Collins wrote:

"These matters are under investigation by the appropriate departments of the government—legislative, executive and judicial."

The bill carries $22,591,000 for the air service in the coming fiscal year, in addition to the PWA allotment of $7,500,000 for new aircraft.

Powers Taken From Congress.

Attacking the allotments of the PWA and CWA for the army, the report said that because of the emergency legislation making them possible "much of the normal appropriative functions of congress was transferred to the executive branch of the government." The bill, it added, was intended to return these powers to congress.

As reported, the measure is $3,000,000 less than the budget estimates of $282,582,000.

Of the total, however, $31,565,000 is for non-military activities. About $121,473,000 is included for army pay.

The $275,541,000 total is $69,881,000 below the appropriations for the current year, which amounted to $345,523,000.

In explaining the reduction, the report said allocations for non-military activities alone by the PWA amounted to an increase of 300 per cent and large sums from the same source are available for military obligation.

Fewer Planes.

Referring to the fewer number of airplanes provided for, the report said it was "partly owing to the fact that the budget numbers are based upon pre-NRA costs."

"No such number is procurable, the committee is advised, under code prices," it said, adding only

DISSENSION WITHIN WAR DEPARTMENT SHOWN IN REPORT

DIRECT REFUTATION OF SISTANT SECRETARY GENERAL IS REVEALED

WASHINGTON, March 5.—Disension within the war department over purchases of planes, including airplanes, revealed today by the house appropriations committee.

Reporting the army appropriations bill, the committee disclosed a direct refutation by Brigadier General Benjamin D. Foulois, chief of the air corps, of a statement by Harry H. Woodring, assistant secretary of war.

The subject of war department purchases is under investigation by a grand jury and by the military affairs committee.

Foulois testified that recent airplane specifications were revised after being drawn, with reduction in the required performance such as speed, range and altitude.

"Who made that change?" asked Chairman Collins (D-Miss), the appropriations subcommittee.

"The assistant secretary of war," Foulois said.

Woodring already has denied before the military affairs committee that he did make changes.

Robert Feuchner, civilian reservation corps director, questioned extensively about changes in specifications for the planes he needed.

"I have not any reason to think that in any of the specifications that have been sent to me for approval, there was any impropriety of doing anything that was proper," Feuchner said finally.

"In other words," Collins marked, "you were just assuring that everybody was...."

"Was honest and sincere," Feuchner finished.

Feuchner then explained about CCC lumber purchases, at which Representative Blanton (D-Tex.) was upset.

Lumber bought for the last summer was of poor quality, Feuchner said, so when he

HUGE SALARIES DRAWN BY BANKERS SENATE BANKING COMMITTEE PROBES FIN

WASHINGTON, March 5.—(AP)—During one of the most trying years in American bank history, a year in which the nation saw an unprecedented bank "holiday," the bankers were drawing annual salaries of $100,000 or more, and 270 others were receiving more than $50,000.

The disclosure of bank salaries for the year ending last June was made today by the senate banking committee.

Names of the officials were included in a halting report submitted to the senate by the federal reserve board in response to a resolution adopted last spring at the request of Senator Costigan (D-Colo.).

H. C. McElldowney, president of the Union Trust Company, of Pittsburgh, and W. W. Aldrich, chairman of the governing board of Chase National Bank, were the highest paid bank officers in the United States, the report indicated.

The Pittsburgh banker received $165,000 during the year. His rate of compensation at the start of the year was $180,000 but later was cut to $120,000.

Aldrich's compensation, meanwhile, was rising. He received $151,744 during the year, but at the end of the period his salary rate was $175,000, making him the highest paid banker in the United States.

This was a far cry, however, from the compensation received by his predecessor, Albert Wiggin. The banking committee's own investigation had disclosed that Wiggin's peak salary was $250,000 a year and that in some years his total compensation was almost $300,000.

The highest salary in the national city bank, where Charles C. Mitchell once drew more than $1,000,000 a year, was paid to Gordon S. Rentschler, president, who received $125,000 plus a bonus of $5,550.

James H. Perkins, who succeeded Mitchell, was getting only $80,000 a year with a bonus of $10,000.

The report showed, incidentally, that the bonus system uncovered by the committee's investigation in some of the bigger institutions is now only a memory.

Most banks paid no bonus during the year, and the highest was a significant comparison to the boom days.

Other salaries listed included Republic National Bank, Trust company, Dallas, $75,000; F. F. Florence, president, $75,000.

First National Bank, Chicago—Melvin A. Traynor, president, salary and bonus $75,000.

Reporters
wrote: "The

titude is cheerful."

Precedent Shattered

Then and there setting the temper for the first year of the "new deal." Mr. Roosevelt shattered precedent by going into executive session with his cabinet before nightfall. He outlined monetary legislation.

The next day he ordered the crumbling financial structure of the country closed for repairs and called an extra session of congress.

On March 9 the newspapers marveled at the "astounding swiftness
with which the ponderous machinery of the house passed the mammoth emergency banking bill" on the first day of congress.

They said the President "smiled and laughed" as he signed the bill 74 minutes after it passed the senate.

Correspondents wrote on March 10:

"A silently intent congress received from President Roosevelt today his second request for extraordinary powers."

"The President's far-reaching proposals (federal economy) were put to astonished congressional leaders."

"Plans were rushed for the third emergency relief measure (funds for unemployed)."

Washington was amazed at the rapidity of White House messages to congress.

Jests With Press

Meanwhile, news writers were learning much about a President
"who smiles and laughs loud, heartily laughs in the midst of troubles that would break many men and, in between, planks down detailed, terse plans to do things on a tremendous scale."

To their spontaneous bursts of applause he set aside a 12-year-old ban against asking the President direct verbal questions at a press conference.

This was front page news:
"The President replied to virtually all questions on the banking situation with little hesitation. Several times his remarks caused a quick burst of laughter. He himself, laughed repeatedly at quips
from the men packed around him.
In all, it was a free and easy
give and take exchange."

"Chatty Atmosphere"

Diplomats attending the first Roosevelt tea found "a cheerful, chatty atmosphere where everyone talked with everyone else and all formality was swept away, one ambassador saying it was the most striking demonstration of American democracy he ever had seen."

The general public got in an early hand. Patrick McKenna, veteran White House attache, said he "hadn't seen so many visitors in the grounds since Theodore Roosevelt's time" and a veteran columnist observed that "the Roosevelts have nearly turned the said, tradition-bound capital upside down."

your associates for your telegram of February twenty-eighth. It is my belief that the observance of humble recognition of our need
